

ASSEMBLY ON SELF-RELIANCE- "BEYOND BOUNDARIES: THE POWER OF SELF-RELIANCE"

"Self-trust is the essence of heroism." – Ralph Waldo Emerson "

The ability to rely on oneself for personal needs and decisions without relying heavily on others is referred to as self-reliance. It encourages self-sufficiency, resilience, and a sense of empowerment. Developing skills, taking initiative, and making educated decisions all contribute to self-reliance. It instills individuals with a strong sense of personal responsibility and accountability. Self-sufficient individuals are better able to overcome problems, adjust to change, and pursue their goals with confidence. Accepting self-reliance promotes personal development and a stronger sense of identity. It promotes ingenuity and invention by encouraging individuals to explore answers on their own. Self-sufficiency is a cornerstone of human development and a critical aspect of creating a satisfying and purposeful existence.

Class 4C students took the initiative to raise awareness about Self-Reliance, which is the ability to rely on oneself for personal needs and decisions without relying unduly on others. "Beyond Boundaries: The Power of Self-Reliance" was the theme of the assembly. The students emphasized this by stating the thought of the day following a melodious shabad. Following that, students gave news updates, two new terms to add to their vocabulary, a motivational poem, and a story.

The assembly concluded with a beautiful dance performance by the students who took the audience into the world of self-trust and positive thinking. The foot-tapping song "I can do it! I will do it! Nothing's going to get in my way! I can do it! I will do it! Never going to stop till I can say I did it! conveying that the only person you are destined to become is the person you decide to be.
