

Goonj, Inchpaper and Nishkam Book collection Drive

'Turn your clutter into compassion to make a difference today!'

JKPS Community Outreach Programme in collaboration with Eco Club organised the “Joy of Giving campaign” where in JKPS family whole heartedly came forward in extending a hand in supporting those in need. JKPS contributed old lunch boxes, old books, old uniforms, water bottles, old unused notebooks, old school bags, old pencil boxes to Goonj - A Voice, An Effort. Specimen books and old diaries were given to Nishkam Welfare Association. Used and unused printer pages (A4 size), story books, novels, used notebooks and old newspapers were sent to Inchpaper's initiative - Har Haath Kitaab for recycling.

Collection bins were strategically placed at various locations within the school premises to facilitate the easy and convenient deposit of the material. Students were encouraged to contribute gently.

Parents, Students and Community Outreach volunteers deposited their 'Gift of Joy' in the designated cartons kept in the Art Room and in the Assembly Hall (Ground floor) on the day of the PTM.

Community Outreach Volunteers organised and packed the material to be sent to Goonj - A Voice, An Effort along with Inchpaper's initiative - Har Haath Kitaab and Nishkam Welfare Association.

The book collection drive at our school was a resounding success, with an overwhelming response from students, parents, and staff members. Together, we collected a diverse array of books spanning various genres, from educational to fiction and beyond. The generous contributions from our school community will undoubtedly make a significant impact on the literacy initiatives supported by Goonj, Inchpaper and Nishkam welfare Association.
