Vivekananda Paathshala

January 2025

"The smallest act of kindness is worth more than the grandest intention."

Jaspal Kaur Public School continues Vivekananda Paathshala as part of our continuous community service initiatives, with the goal of giving those with limited access to high-quality education and resources. This program aims to narrow the educational gap and cultivate a love of learning in all children, regardless of their socioeconomic background. It is in line with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) of the United Nations, including Goal 1 No Poverty, Goal 4: Quality Education, and Goal 10 Reduced Inequalities. The students' passionate participation shows how motivated they are to learn and develop, which reflects JKPS's dedication to community service and inclusive education.

A Paathshaala class on "One and Many" in Hindi provided an engaging and foundational learning experience. Students explored singular and plural forms through hands-on activities, illustrations, and real-life objects, enhancing their critical thinking and creativity. By using illustrations and real-life objects, the teacher made abstract concepts tangible, promoting a deeper connection to learning. The interactive session encouraged participation, aligning with SDG 4 by promoting inclusive and quality education. The class concluded with Republic Day celebration, where students danced to patriotic songs, fostering unity and respect for diversity—values reflected in SDGs 10 and 16, which emphasize social cohesion, peace, and justice.

The enthusiasm was shown by the students through their questions and involvement in the class.

The session on Vedic Maths tricks taught students easy multiplication tricks. The session contributed to enhancing mathematical skills and provided them with practical knowledge that can improve their academic performance.

This helps make education more inclusive and accessible to all students. SDG 10 Reduced Inequalities - The active participation of the the The session can help bridge the educational gap. The collaboration between Jaspalians and the students of Vivekananda Paathshala reflects how partnerships can foster community development and collective growth. By sharing knowledge and skills, such partnerships help to achieve the broader objectives of sustainable development.

An engaging activity on metals and non-metals, featuring demonstrations and student-drawn diagrams, enhanced students' understanding of chemistry. The session also supported SDG 9, as discussions on metal properties and atomic structures inspired innovation and technological awareness. The activity ensured inclusive participation and collaboration, emphasizing peer learning and teamwork in achieving educational goals.

This session on formal and informal letter writing helped students develop essential communication skills, making learning more relevant by using current examples. Teaching students to express themselves through letters ensures equal access to important life skills, promoting self-expression.

This activity of teaching nouns and its types using real-life examples and concrete objects makes learning more engaging and effective, helping students better understand basic language concepts. By using relatable examples, the lesson ensures that all students, regardless of their background, can grasp the concept and apply it. The use of real-life objects like a book, toy fan and a doll fosters a deeper connection between theoretical learning and practical application, encouraging collaboration and interactive learning. This hands-on approach enhances understanding and makes language learning more accessible and enjoyable.

In a broader context, the approach followed in the paathshaala contributes to the development of young minds who are aware of their social and cultural responsibilities, thus helping them become active and informed global citizens. By nurturing curiosity, creativity, and respect for diversity, education in this form helps foster the long-term social, cultural, and economic development needed to achieve the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals.

The children eagerly participated in the sports fiesta, showcasing their energy and enthusiasm in various races. They competed in exciting events such as the cone ball race, where they skilfully balanced and carried the ball through obstacles. The hurdle race tested their agility as they jumped over hurdles with determination. The relay race brought out their teamwork and coordination as they passed the baton to their teammates, striving to reach the finish line first. The atmosphere was filled with cheers and encouragement, making the sports fiesta a memorable and fun-filled event for everyone.

Monthly Birthday celebration was organised. Children were excited, staff workers and volunteers participated, fostering a vibrant and welcoming environment. As they wished one other well and relished their special day, their delight was evident. The parents also viewed the sports fiesta as well as the birthday celebration.
