Principles of accessible e-Content

Guidelines have been framed based on these four cardinal principles

Equivalent ease of access to children with disabilities

Perceivable	Operable	Understandable
Children should be able to perceive the content using any sense (Sight, touch, hear)	Children should be able to control and manipulate the entire content using any of the interface (mouse, keyboard ...)	Children should be able to understand and comprehend the content and operations (Instructions, how to use, etc..)

And we want you to look at them first principle as his natural.
Children should be able to access content on wide range of devices (Desktop, laptop, Smartphone, Tablet, etc.)
